Good afternoon, Mr. Wetherbee,

NMED expects all persons who participate in the October 30-31, 2025, meetings to comport their conduct with the confidentiality considerations set forth in my emails on October 9, 2025, and October 24, 2025. As previously stated, any person who does not agree to be bound by the confidential approach to the discussion sessions is asked to not attend, as their participation may create fear that the discussions could later be used against a party. By participating, all the other parties have agreed to proceed under the auspices of this process.

NMED appreciates your interest in the discussion sessions and your stated support for collaborative progress in this rulemaking. However, these meetings are not part of the formal Environmental Improvement Board proceeding and are not public meetings; rather, they are informal, pre-hearing discussions convened by NMED to explore potential areas of alignment among technical participants about the rule language. They are designed to foster open and solution-oriented dialogue under conditions that are essential to candid exchange in mediation and settlement forums. This type of mediation process regularly happens in a contested legal venue. As previously indicated in my emails, at the conclusion of these sessions, NMED will publicly provide the Board with information about issues that remain unresolved and those where alignment was achieved, consistent with the confidentiality framework shared by all participants and in the same manner that could have been achieved with individual meetings.

While NMED has no obligation to include every party in informal settlement-style discussions, you were invited as a courtesy to support collaboration, contingent upon agreement with the established confidentiality and participation guidelines. NMED intends to preserve the integrity of that process and to ensure that no participant feels constrained by concerns that statements made in good faith could later be used in advocacy or litigation - or in the media. Since you will not agree to the confidentiality considerations, NMED must respectfully decline your participation in these sessions.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter. Please contact me should you have any questions or concerns.

Re: CTFP Discussion Sessions on Thursday, October 30, 2025, and Friday, October 31, 2025.

Good Afternoon Ms. Sona and Ms. Standefer-Skinner,

It is my intent to participate in the sessions being conducted by Adelante Consulting and being organized by Mikayla Standefer-Skinner on Thursday, October 30, 2025, and Friday, October 31, 2025, as described in the email thread below.

While I will generally be observing, I anticipate I might speak to:

- the Ground Rules (Day 1), and
- the topic identified as Enforcement (Day 2), although I reserve my right to weigh in with questions on other matters described on the Draft Agenda emailed to me and others from Ms. Sona on Friday, October 24, 2025.

I want to be perfectly clear, I do NOT accept the confidentiality restrictions, described by Ms. Sona in the same email, as a condition of participation, as I believe them to be a violation of, among other things, my First Amendment rights, and those of any participant in this proceeding.

I support the effort to try to reach some agreements or at least narrow items of dispute, however this is a rulemaking undertaking by a state government board and organized by a state agency and its contracted attorneys and consultants, both of which are public entities.

This is not a matter regarding a dispute between private interests/parties.

Therefore, secrecy has no place in the process

If it is your intent to exclude me from participating in the meetings because I will not accept the conditions of confidentiality described in Ms. Sona's email, I formally request to be informed of that before the meeting tomorrow morning so that I may begin pursuit of legal remedies available to me.

Thanks for the work you do for the people of New Mexico.

Sincerely,

Subject: RE: CTFP Discussion Sessions - Save the Date

Good afternoon,

As previously shared, the New Mexico Environment Department is hosting two virtual discussion sessions for parties to the Clean Transportation Fuels Rulemaking in advance of the filing deadline for rebuttal testimony and exhibits.

Attached for your consideration to review in advance of the discussion sessions, please see attached a draft redline of the rule. Below is a list of the topics that NMED plans to cover in the discussion sessions and the order in which they will tentatively be raised. Please keep planned statements brief to allow for more facilitated open discussion time.

Draft Agenda

Day 1

1. Welcome, Introductions, Ground Rules
2. Extended Compliance Period
3. Project Approval & Crediting
4. Book and Claim
5. Avoided Emissions

Day 2

6. Authority to Defer
7. Registration Fees
8. Periodic Review & Advisory Committee
9. Enforcement
10. Appeals
11. Other Updates

Adelante Consulting is assisting NMED with organizing the discussions sessions. To help them with planning, by 4 p.m. on Wednesday, October 29th, please respond to Mikayla Standefer-Skinner (mstandefer-skinner@adelanteconsulting.com) with the following:

- Your plans for attending;
- Which topics you client would like to speak to; and
- Your client's spokesperson for each respective topic they would like to speak to.

As a reminder, the Environmental Improvement Board has indicated an interest in parties reaching alignment where possible. The purpose of the discussion sessions is to facilitate reaching that alignment. Again, NMED intends for the discussion sessions to proceed with a confidential mindset to facilitate communication and find understanding between and among parties, such that only the outcomes are shared and not the back-and-forth exchanges.

Participation Guidelines:

1. Please come prepared with concerns about specific language in the draft redline of the rule and tied to the topics identified. NMED will request that each party identify a spokesperson for each topic to ensure all parties who wish to share will have time and the information exchange does not digress into differing/multiple perspectives among a party's own experts.
2. Parties may invite any persons necessary to listen to the discussions or to provide information on the party's position about a topic, with the understanding stated in point 1 above.
3. Counsel for the parties are welcome to attend but NMED intends for the discussions to be between the subject-matter experts and will not invite discussion from counsel.
4. NMED will conform the discussion session to the confidentiality considerations set forth below to facilitate frank conversation.
5. Adelante Consulting and NMED's counsel will manage the process to ensure that all parties interested have a chance to be heard and that the discussion stays focused on problem-solving.

Confidentiality Considerations:

NMED intends for the discussion sessions to proceed with a confidential mindset to facilitate communication and find understanding between and among parties, such that only the outcomes are shared and not the back-and-forth exchanges. The approach respects the parameters set forth in Rule 11-408 of the New Mexico Rules of Evidence.

Any person who does not agree to be bound by the confidential approach to the discussion sessions is asked to not attend, as their participation may create fear that the discussions could later be used against a party.

The only information NMED intends to provide the Board regarding the discussion sessions is as follows:

- The fact that the meeting occurred and when
- The attendance list
- Copies of the invitation (such as this email)
- The topics identified by NMED to guide the discussion
- NMED's draft redline of the rule used for the discussion
- Issues that remain unresolved after the discussion session; Issues there were resolved through the discussions

NMED requests the same courtesy of information sharing limits from those attending the discussion sessions.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter. Please contact me should you have any questions or concerns.
